TOWN OF BRIGHTON

CROSS-CONNECTION PREVENTION AGREEMENT

The Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation mandates that The Town of Brighton adopt and enforce a Cross-Connection Control Program to prevent its water system from being contaminated by any non-potable water source.

I agree to not allow any water source (such as a well, swimming pool, hot tub, livestock watering system, automotive radiator, irrigation system, air-condition/heating system, auxiliary system, baptismal tank, bathtub that fills from below the rim of the tub, water softener, boiler, car wash equipment, chemical feeder, cooling system, fire protection system, sprinkler system, fish tanks, ponds, garden sprayer, pest control equipment, sewer flush tank, vats, tanks, threaded hose bib, water treatment device, water trough, etc...) to be connected in any manner to the Town's public water system unless the proper cross-connection protection device is properly installed, maintained, inspected, tested and repaired and meets all requirements for backflow prevention devices set forth in the Town's Cross Connection Control Policy and Plan.

When any cross-connection or potential cross-connection exists at the service address listed in this Agreement, I will install the appropriate backflow prevention device to eliminate the cross-connection or potential cross-connection. From the information provided to me by the Town, I acknowledge that:

- I understand what a cross-connection is
- How to prevent and eliminate cross-connections
- If I have a suspected Cross-Connection, or am not sure, I will contact the Town for guidance

As the customer of record at the listed address, I agree to inform all occupants of this property of the dangers of cross-connections, how to prevent and eliminate cross-connections and what protective devices are required to isolate cross-connections depending on the level of hazard.

By my signature, I obligate myself to abide by the terms of this Cross-Connection Agreement, and I assume full responsibility for complying with The Town of Brighton's Cross-Connection Control Policy and Plan for any current or future cross-connections or potential cross-connections at this service address. I agree that compliance with this Cross-Connection Prevention Agreement is a condition of receiving water service at this address.
